(RAHAM'S is the object and most popular of the American Literary Magazines. The namber for January, 1813, will be the first of t 35th volume. Its long and universally successful career, from its commencement with a few handred subscribers, gatil the present time, when it has a circulation of fifty tho isand copies a month. is perhaps as good an evidence of its great and increasing merit as the publisher has it in his power to offer. To his old subscribers, he trasts no assurance are necessary of his determination to maintain its present ascendancy over all the rival periodicals of the country. The engagement, daring the past year, of such men as BRYANT, Coop-ER, DANA, LONGFELLOW, HOFFMAN, MANCUE. etc., of high reputation' in the linerary world, as regular contributors, in addition to a previous list · obtaining many of the first names in the nation, is a su ficient guarantee that the work will continue to be the principle median of communication between the best actions and the public. Amon? the attractions of the thirty-fith volume, will be several Pales by Mc J. F. Cooper, Mc Gratton. Mr Hoffman, Mr Herbert, Miss Listie, Mach Clarers, Mrs, Envery, Mrs Eller set Mrs Ste-phens; poems by Mr Bryant, Mr Dana, M Longfellow, Mr Street, Mrs Sch. Smith, Mr Organd, and Mrs Signwraey; essays by Mr Fa . Mr Jones, Mr Tuckerman, Mr Poe, etc. etc.

Here follows a more full list of the names of r intributors, the most distinguished of the country which we omit for want of room.

Graham's Ludy's and Gendeman's Magazin has been from its establishment more than any outer the favority periodical of the greater sex Though its plan does not entirely exclude article of the most important character, each as have rai sed Blackwoo I's and some other foreign journal to their high influence and reputation, its page el light literature. It will be distinguished from sther publications of similar aims by the Literara and artistic mer tof its coments. While those ather works are naknowa or anonymous, the c tributors to this are the most eminent nathers our age and country: the very creators, founders of our National Literature. Es, scially is it cell shrated as containing the choicest productions of the finest female writers of the time. In the department of Engravings it is well kwn but Graham's Magazina has far surpassed nor er caratry. The highest umbation of rival pube lishers seems thus far to have been to mai tain respectable imitation of the numero t- costly an beautiful works of art with which the succession numbers of this journal have been graced. In the course of the succeeding volumes many important new fantures will be introduced. Sartio and Sadd the most celebrated Mazzotint Phymoers in the Union, and equals of mebest in Europe, will continue to furnish their exquisite prolactions: an Rawdon, Wright and Hatch, G Parker, A Dick, Gimbredge, Jackman, Jones and others, of New York, and Dodson, Welch and aters, Tucker and others, of Philadelphia-all among the most eminent line engravers of the present century, have been engaged to furnish a succession of highly finished steel engravings, superior to any thathave hitherto appeared in periodicals. Among the pictures that will be engraved for for the volumes in 1813, are saveral Ontoinal Paintings, by Ingham, Inman, Cols, Thompson, Freeman. Franquinet, and other distinguished artists. The American periodicals have hitherto contained, save in a very few instances, only engravings copied from foreign prints. The publisher of Graham's Magazine will be the first to reform the practice, and to make his work strictly original in its embellishments as well as in its literary con-
